Flexibility

- Three curricula to match your interests (flexibility)

Assessment and career progression (see website)

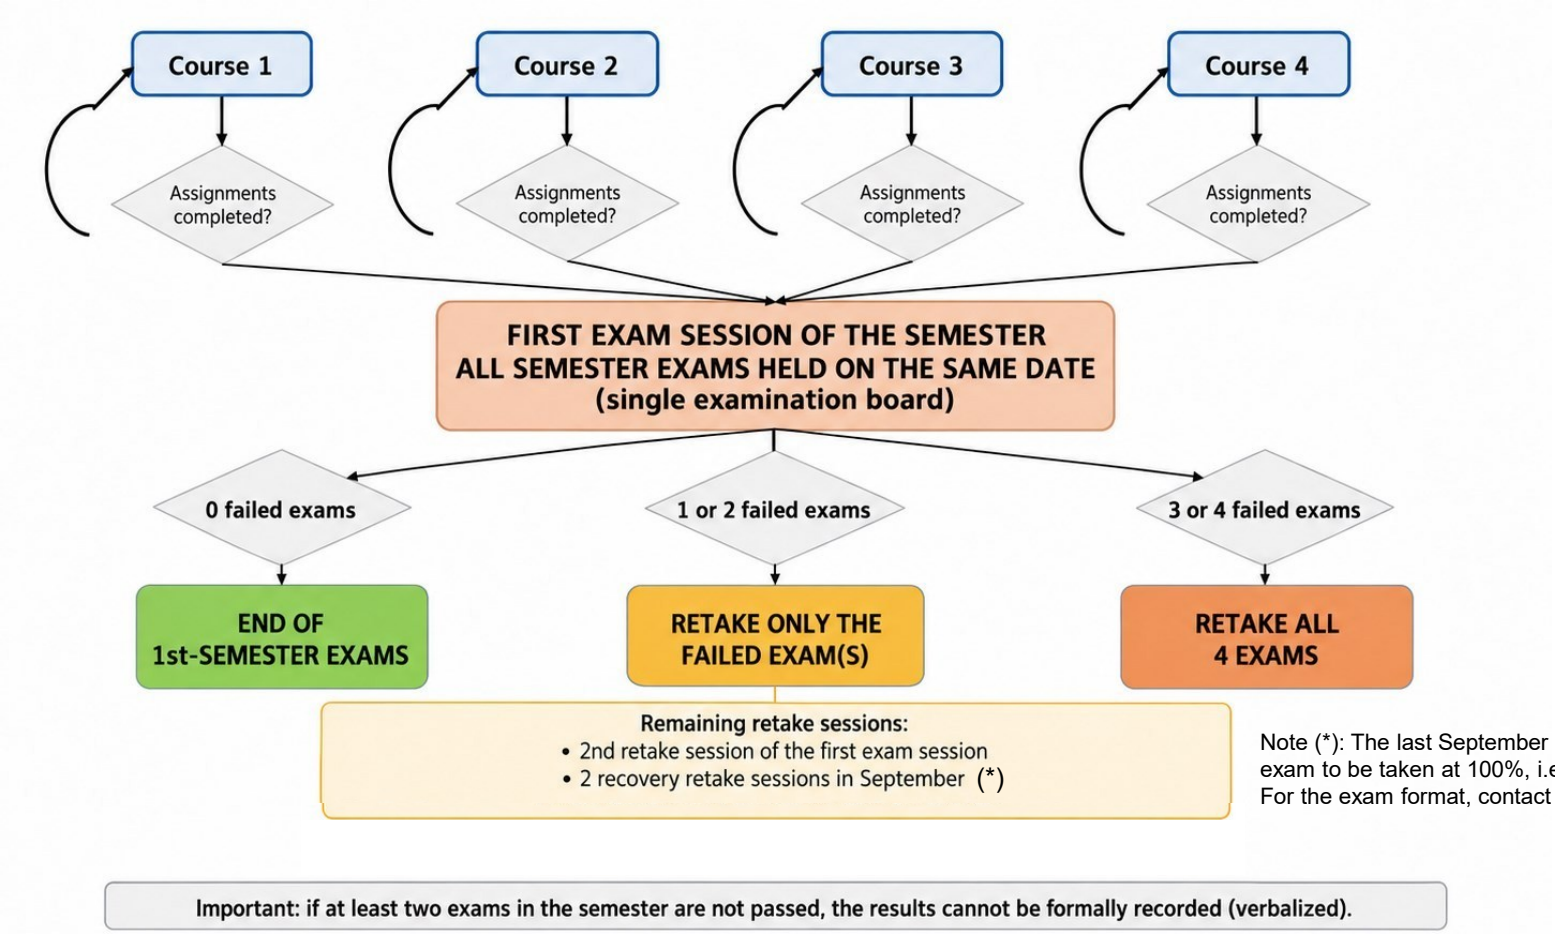

- In-term assignments account for at least 50% of your final grade
- Essays, project work, teamwork, and similar
- In the first and second years, the final exam is a joint exam covering all the courses of the semester
  - E.g., first year, first semester: political economy, financial accounting, mathematics, and public law
  - There is a committee assessing you – you can "pass" even if you are below the minimum bar in one of the assessment!
    - "Smoothing out the assessment" + several retake sessions
- This has ensured excellent progression towards completion!
